Dear Mr. Huffman:

This Notice of Violation (NOV) is to inform you of violations of Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, as amended (RCRA) identified during an inspection of Seward Body and Paint located at 13485 Seward Hwy in Seward, Alaska. This inspection was conducted on June 6, 2014 by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and was performed pursuant to EPA's authority under Section 3007 of RCRA, 42 U.S.C. § 6927. The purpose of the inspection was to determine the facility's compliance with RCRA.

At the time of the inspection, the following violations were observed:

Failure to Label a Tank and Container of Used Oil

The regulation at 40 C.F.R. § 279.22(c)(1) requires that containers and tanks used to store used oil must be labeled or marked clearly with the words "Used Oil."

At the time of the inspection, the inspector observed the following violations of this regulation:

- A 55 gallon container of used oil sludge that was located at the back of the shop contained used oil sludge removed from the bottom of the used oil tank. The 55 gallon container was not labeled with the words "Used Oil." Prior to the inspector leaving the facility the 55 gallon container was labeled with the words "Used Oil" correcting this violation.
- A black 300 gallon tank that held used oil that was burned in the space heater was not labeled with the words "Used Oil." Prior to the inspector leaving the facility the 300 gallon tank was labeled with the words "Used Oil" correcting this violation.

Required Actions

All potential violations noted at the time of the inspection were corrected at that time. No further communication regarding these violations is required.
